THE FIRE CAUSED BY INCENDIARIES.

HISTORY OF THE CRYSTAL PALACE.

[illegible]

[illegible] Palace, [illegible] the Fortieth-street entrance, but the fire had gained such headway that the man attempting the removal had to relinquish the undertaking.

The moment the alarm of fire was given, Mr. Jessup, one of the managers, attempted to get the hose into action, reserved in the building for emergency in case of fire. It was found to be impossible to force water through it, and the effort to extinguish the fire in this way was of necessity abandoned. Had this apparatus been in working order, the conflagration undoubtedly might have been prevented.

SOURCE OF THE FIRE.

The general belief, as stated above, is, that the fire was the work of an incendiary. Gas-man states positively, that just before the fire was announced, he saw [illegible] Palace [illegible] the main pipe. A boy [illegible] the gas-fixtures [illegible] the number [illegible]

Another story prevails that the fire originated from [illegible] in the gas apparatus. It is said that two men were seen [illegible] on Monday, and that a strong smell of gas pervaded the building. The gas-meters were placed in a small room adjoining the room where the lumber was stored; and it is asserted that in attempting to light the gas, the escaped gas ignited in some way, producing an explosion and the subsequent fire. A fact strongly opposing this theory is, that there is no evidence of any explosion having been heard. However, several persons positively assert that the gas was blazing freely in several places at once along what might have been imperfections in the gas main.

THE CALLIOPE.

A feature of the Palace was the steam Calliope, introduced for the first time at the exhibition of last year. There were three of these singular musical monsters in the Palace. One was placed there yesterday, and was not quite in working order. The other two were in full blast. They were placed on the platform in the centre of the building, immediately underneath the dome, and daily disdoursed music to the great wonderment and delectation of the visitors to the Palace. On one of the instruments a tune had just been finished when the fire broke out; the air, by seeming strange fatality, being "Pop, goes the weasel."

The value of the three instruments—they were all consumed—was $16,000.

POLICE ARRANGEMENTS.

Nearly contemporaneous with the arrival of the Firemen, several detachments of Police from the contiguous Wards arrived on the ground. General Superintendent TALLMADGE and Deputy Superintendent CARPENTER made their appearance early, and were prominently active in aiding to preserve order. Through the efforts of the Police, the immense crowd assembled around the building were driven back to prevent loss of life from the falling of the structure. Mayor TIEMANN visited the scene, but did not arrive until the greater part of the mammoth edifice had been leveled with the ground. As always, on the occasion of great gatherings, the light-fingered gentry were largely represented, and several persons had their pockets relieved of surplus bills and loose change. Quite a number of audacious thieves were promptly arrested and moved to the nearest Station-house.

The news that the Crystal Palace was burning spread like wildfire. Before the dome fell, short as the period was, an immense crowd had gathered round the building. The brilliant light, which could be seen at a great distance, drew constant additions to the throng. Such an assemblage has not been seen around the building since its inauguration. Every one looked on with deep and absorbing interest. The imposing dimensions of the structure, and the brilliant illumination of its dome and burning interior, formed a [illegible] and exciting spectacle. The interest was rendered more intense from the general supposition that a number of lives of the visitors must have been sacrificed. The crowd tarried till a late hour, and the hotels and grog-shops in the vicinity drove a thriving trade in dispensing sixpenny drinks and oysters to the excited and anxious crowd.

MR. CHAMBERS' STATEMENT.

The following interesting account of the conflagration was furnished us by Mr. CHAMBERS, who, for the last 10 years, has been Secretary of the Institute:

Yesterday afternoon, at about 5 o'clock, a fire was discovered at the Forty-second-street entrance of the Crystal Palace. This place was not used by the Institute, but was stored with the patterns used in the construction of the Palace; no fire or lights were used in this place, and no doubt the fire was the work of an incendiary. The Chairman of the Board, Mr. [illegible], the Agent, Mr. LEONARD, some ten Managers, together with the Secretary of the Board, were [illegible] near the Equestrian Statue of WASHINGTON, [illegible] by the Fortieth-street entrance, when a [illegible] flash of light was observed at the extreme end of the north nave; red flames and volumes of smoke [illegible] behind the windows of the Forty-second-[illegible]

[illegible] Palace [illegible] the doors, in hopes of rendering assistance where [illegible] was the work of an instant. They had [illegible] time to save one trunk in which the books were placed. One of the managers [illegible] the door, but [illegible] through the broken windows. The trunk was [illegible] that was saved in this office. Fortunately the [illegible] of entry are safe, also the book of members. In the space of twenty minutes from the discovery of the fire the Palace was in one blaze, and in less than [illegible] minutes the splendid structure was one heap of ruins.

There was a report current in the City that the [illegible] had exploded and a number of persons had been seriously injured, but this was not the fact. [illegible] building. Although it was not dark, yet the flames and smoke were seen at a great distance. Sheets of [illegible] from the roof were found in Thirtieth-street, near the East River. There were some 1,500 persons in the Palace at the time. We have hopes that all escaped, as last night was to have been one of the semi-weekly concerts, if the fire had taken place later the result might have been far more serious.

The Managers had used every precaution for the safety and security of visitors. Competent and faithful men were employed to superintend the various departments. Some 400 watchmen were on duty all night, and vigilant door-clerks and Police were on duty during the day. Every care was used for the preservation of the property of the exhibitors. The loss, as a whole, exceeds any that had befallen the Institute. There were over 2,000 entries in all departments. The Fair was just in [illegible] operation, and no doubt was entertained by the Managers but it would have resulted in a great success. Bids were all cleared, and in the course of this week and next the Judges would have got through with the examinations. The awards and cups had all been prepared for the occasion; these were saved. [illegible] by general the Managers.

This loss will fall heavily upon the Institute. The Institute have no [illegible] that valuable [illegible] and fixtures, which cost over $40,000. The [illegible] were erected at a time when the [illegible] for the exhibition of the Industry of All Nations. The whole quantity of iron employed in the construction amounted to 1,600 tons of which three hundred was wrought and fifteen hundred tons of cast iron. The quantity of glass was about 15,000 panes, and of wood, [illegible] feet.

The principal dimensions were—Transept, principal floor to gallery floor, 24 feet; to top of [illegible] 44 feet 4½ inches; to top of [illegible] 59 feet 10 inches; to ridge of nave, 67 feet [illegible] inches; to top of bed-plate, 46 feet 11 inches; to top [illegible] ridge of dome, 120 feet 6 inches; from floor [illegible] to top of lantern, 151 feet; to top of [illegible] 160 feet. Total area of floor and gallery, [illegible] feet, or 1½ acres.

The original stockholders lost all they invested, and the Palace for the last three or four years has been in the hands of a receiver, for the benefit of some bondholders. Last June the City took possession, and placed it in the hands of the American Institute. This was the fourth Exhibition held in the Palace under the auspices of the American Institute.

INVENTORY OF THE PROPERTY ON EXHIBITION DESTROYED, AND ITS OWNERS.

From the books of the American Institute we have collated a list of the principal entries of articles which were on exhibition in the Crystal Palace. The simple titles of entries occupy some large folio volumes, and, of course, we are not able to copy them entire. The Glasgow Herald has the following paragraph in relation to the affairs of Messrs. Dunsmore:

"We feel we can scarcely give sufficient prominence to the following most creditable, most honorable document, just issued by Messrs. J. and A. Dunsmore, of this city:—Glasgow, 12th September, 1856. We have now the pleasure of intimating that we will be prepared, on Tuesday, the 21st inst., and by no much thereafter, to pay the fourth instalment of our composition on general account; also, the fifth and last instalment on Australian account, due respectively on 30th of June and 31st July, 1856. Some idea of the magnitude of the operation may be formed when we consider (taking the figures as published at the meeting of creditors in November last) that the cash thus paid in anticipation reaches the enormous amount of some £1,200,000, leaving for payment of the comparatively moderate amount of £400,000."

NEWS OF THE DAY.

The Crystal Palace was totally destroyed by fire yesterday. At a few minutes after 5 P.M., a fire was discovered, by the Forty-second-street entrance, to have taken hold of the gallery room adjoining the gallery of the Fair. The flames spread with fearful rapidity, and darting up through the well of the staircase above communicated to a large chandelier with thirty-two burners, then to a quantity of paints and oils on the second floor, leaped across to some bedding and cabinet furniture, and with astonishing celerity shot up to the dome, which speedily fell, setting fire to the roof of the first story. There the fire spread in every direction, and in a little over twenty minutes from the time when it was first discovered the entire roof of the Palace was blazing with it most of the walls beneath. The extent of the damage sustained can only be roughly estimated. If the Palace were worth [illegible] (the last price paid upon it,) and the property of exhibitors, at a very low estimate, caused [illegible] the total loss would be $350,000, to which is to be added the value of statuary and works of art which were retained in the Palace after the World's Fair; so that it is safe to estimate the entire value of the property destroyed at a much higher figure. The principal pieces of statuary, including Kiss's celebrated equestrian statue of Washington; casts from Crawford's group of the Apostles; a bas-relief of the "Descent from the Cross;" a mantle statue of Ceres, and several other valuable works of art, belonged to the Association for the Exhibition of the Industry of all Nations." This association was originally the property of an incorporated company known as the "Association for the Exhibition of the Industry of all Nations." This association was incorporated March 11, 1852; the building was THEODORE SEDGWICK. The building was commenced in the Fall of 1852, and was opened by President PIERCE, on the 14th July, 1853. The exhibition remained open for nearly a year, and the Presidency was subsequently vested in Mr. P. T. BARNUM, under whose auspices a [illegible] took place on the 4th of May, 1854. It is likely that the entire property reverted to the [illegible]

By the simultaneous arrival of the Hammonia at Southampton from Southampton, and of the Nova Scotia at Quebec from Liverpool, we have dates from Liverpool to Sept. 22. The news is of a second character. The steamship Ariel had run into Southampton water, but was got off without damage, and had proceeded to her [illegible]. A communication from the Electric Atlantic Telegraph holds out hope of its eventually working, though mention is made at the same time made of another probable lesion, [illegible] from the American end. A [illegible] in Spanish politics was threatened. It is [illegible] that 3,000 troops have been ordered immediately to Cuba, with what object we do not [illegible]. The prices of Cotton in the Liverpool market were firm at an advance; breadstuffs tended to a decline; while the money market was buoyant. From Venezuela we have intelligence to the 6th [illegible] embodying the terms of the recent convention with the French and English officials. Monagas and Gorrumendi had already been sent off as a Government vessel to Martinique, [illegible] confined in prison awaiting trial. Much [illegible] was felt at the pacific termination of [illegible]

A proclamation promulgated by the Provisional Government of Venezuela, to reinstate the civil [illegible] of General PAEZ, that he should [illegible] yesterday fulfilled that duty. [illegible] it proved to be, was perhaps [illegible] Hotel, in the evening, when Senor BURGES addressed General PAEZ, in eloquent [illegible] to the call. Other speeches followed from Mr. T. F. MEAGHER, Don MANUEL PAEZ, and others; after which, and a magnificent collation, the company dispersed.

Our advices from the Bermudas extend to Sept. 23. They are unimportant. The health of the islands was good; the weather unusually fine.

The State Fair opened at Syracuse, yesterday, under the most favorable auspices. The weather was all that could be desired, and the exhibition very complete. The receipts exceeded those of the first day last year by several hundred dollars.

The first meeting of the season of the Historical Society took place last evening, in the Library of that Institution, corner of Second-avenue and Second-street. A very large audience, including many ladies, were present. The Hon. LUTHER BRADISH presided. New members were elected, and a resolution requiring the admission of strangers was passed. The paper of the evening, written by the venerable JOHN M. MACDONALD, of Hempstead, was read by Mr. GEORGE H. MOORE, Librarian of the Society. Its subject was "The Revolution in Hempstead in 1777." As a contribution to the history of the Revolution full justice was done to the noble men who took part in it, and the death of General WOOCHESTER was graphically depicted. Some donations were made to the Institution, including one from the Librarian, of the dispatch received by him in London, from the Lord Mayor of London, over the Atlantic Cable, and presented him in this City from Trinity [illegible]

[illegible] of the prisoners, who were arrested on the charge of being engaged in the Slave-trade, and whose vessel, the bark, was sunk off Montauk Point, a few days ago, came up before United States Commissioner [illegible] yesterday, but nothing [illegible] than reading the affidavit on which they were held, and hearing a few witnesses, who appeared for the prisoners, the case was adjourned. The prisoners, who appeared for the prisoners, the case was adjourned. The prisoners, who appeared for the prisoners, the case was adjourned. The prisoners

LOAN OF $1,490,500—HANNIBAL AND ST. JOSEPH RAILROAD BONDS.—The Hannibal and St. Joseph Railroad Company will, until Saturday, the 16th day of August next, be ready to receive at the office of the Fiscal Agency, in Boston, sealed proposals for the purchase of $1,490,500 of their Land Bonds, in sums of $500 or $1,000.
A statement of the condition of the Company is in preparation, by which it will be apparent that the sale of their bonds will, with the other available resources of the Company, afford sufficient means to open the road through early next Spring.
The bonds now offered form the balance of the issue of $5,000,000, secured by a mortgage to William H. Swift, Sidney Bartlett and Nathaniel Thayer, Trustees, upon the lands granted to the Company, and are payable in twenty-five years from April 1, 1856, with interest, semi-annually, at 7 per cent. per annum.
The taker of each bond will receive a certificate, giving him the optional right to take at any time within one year from the date thereof, from Hannibal or St. Joseph, an equal amount in the stock of the Company, subject to assessments as follows: $5 per share upon electing to take the stock and receiving the certificate of scrip, and not over $30 per share during any six months thereafter.
The said assessments will be receivable in any of the Land Bonds of the Company now offered, with proper adjustment of interest.
10 per cent. on each subscription to the loan will be payable on the 15th day of August next, and will be retained as security, without issuing bonds therefor, until the whole of such subscription is paid up.
15 per cent. on the 17th of September.
25 per cent. on the 17th of October.
25 per cent. on the 17th of November.
25 per cent. on the 17th of December.
25 per cent. on the 17th of January.
For each installment, except the first, bonds will be issued, with proper adjustment of interest, when payments are made; or payments may be made earlier, by notifying the Treasurer of the Fiscal Agency thereof, at the time the first payment is made.
The proceeds of the sales of the 500,000 acres of land of the Company is anticipated, as fast as received, to the payment of the bonds, at par, by lot; and the bonds are receivable, as cash, in payment for the lands of the Company.
Upon the above conditions the Loan will be awarded to the highest responsible bidders, the Company reserving to themselves the right to consider the responsibility of the parties making the proposals, as well as the rate offered.
E. S. WATSON,
Treasurer of the Fiscal Agency,
